A good home must be made not bought.

Joyce Maynard

Home is where the heart is and a home built by Keith Dixon Building Company is a home that is worth every ounce of heart felt warmth. We build homes that you will be proud to call yours, a home that increases in value because of the commitment we put into every home we build.

When you purchase a Keith Dixon home, you may rest assured that your home was built the Keith Dixon way, with a commitment to uncompromising quality and use of fine materials. Trusted subcontractors enable Keith to focus on the details that transform a well-built home into an exceptional one.

A builder of fine homes in Chapel Hill with over 20 years experience, Keith is dedicated to building homes the right way with professional pride in consistently using high quality materials and workmanship. His well-earned reputation speaks for itself in the glowing recommendations his clients are more than willing to give. Repeatedly satisfied homeowners offer praise for his expert advice and guidance during the planning and building process and for the "high level of workmanship, dedication, and devotion of Keith and his staff."

Welcome Home

Keith says anybody can build a house, but not everybody can be a builder. A master's degree in education and 13 years of teaching helped hone his people and management skills while working as a builder for more than 20 years has given him plenty of opportunity to further fine-tune his abilities. After all this time, Keith continues to place the utmost importance on respecting everyone he works with and maintaining a cooperative atmosphere throughout what others could view as a challenging and complicated process.

But perhaps what speaks loudest about the confidence Keith has in his work is that he doesn't hesitate to live surrounded by neighbors who are also his former clients.
